

M

Prologue

“and gladly wolde he lerne and gladly teche.”

Geoffrey Chaucer

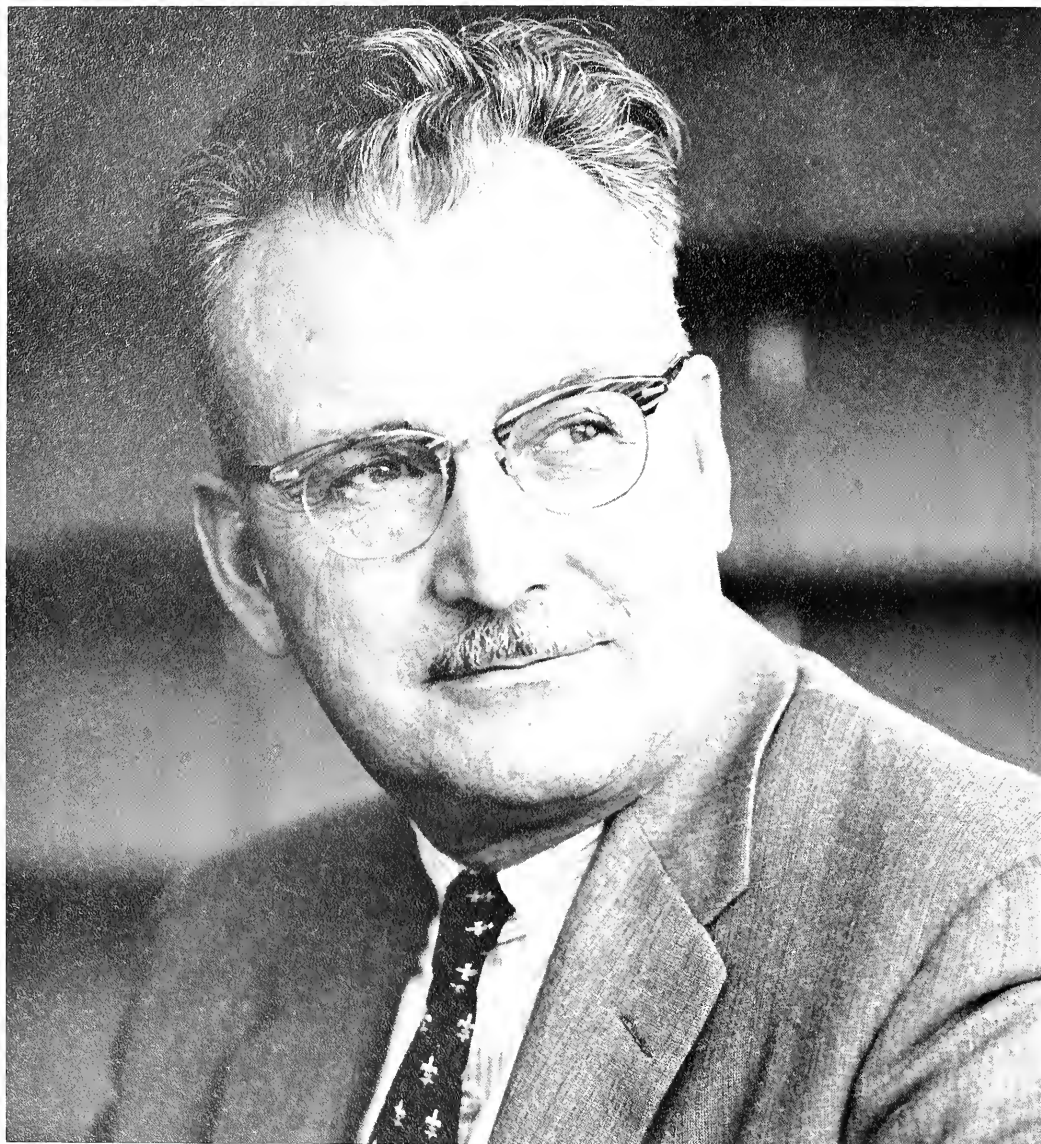

from Canterbury Tales

Dedication

*In hym is bounte, wysdom, governaunce
Wel more than any mannes wit can guesse;
For grace hath willed so far hym advaunce
That in teching he is perfect no lesse.
To honour Doctour Krauss, our inspiracioun,
We give this boke in dedicacioun.*

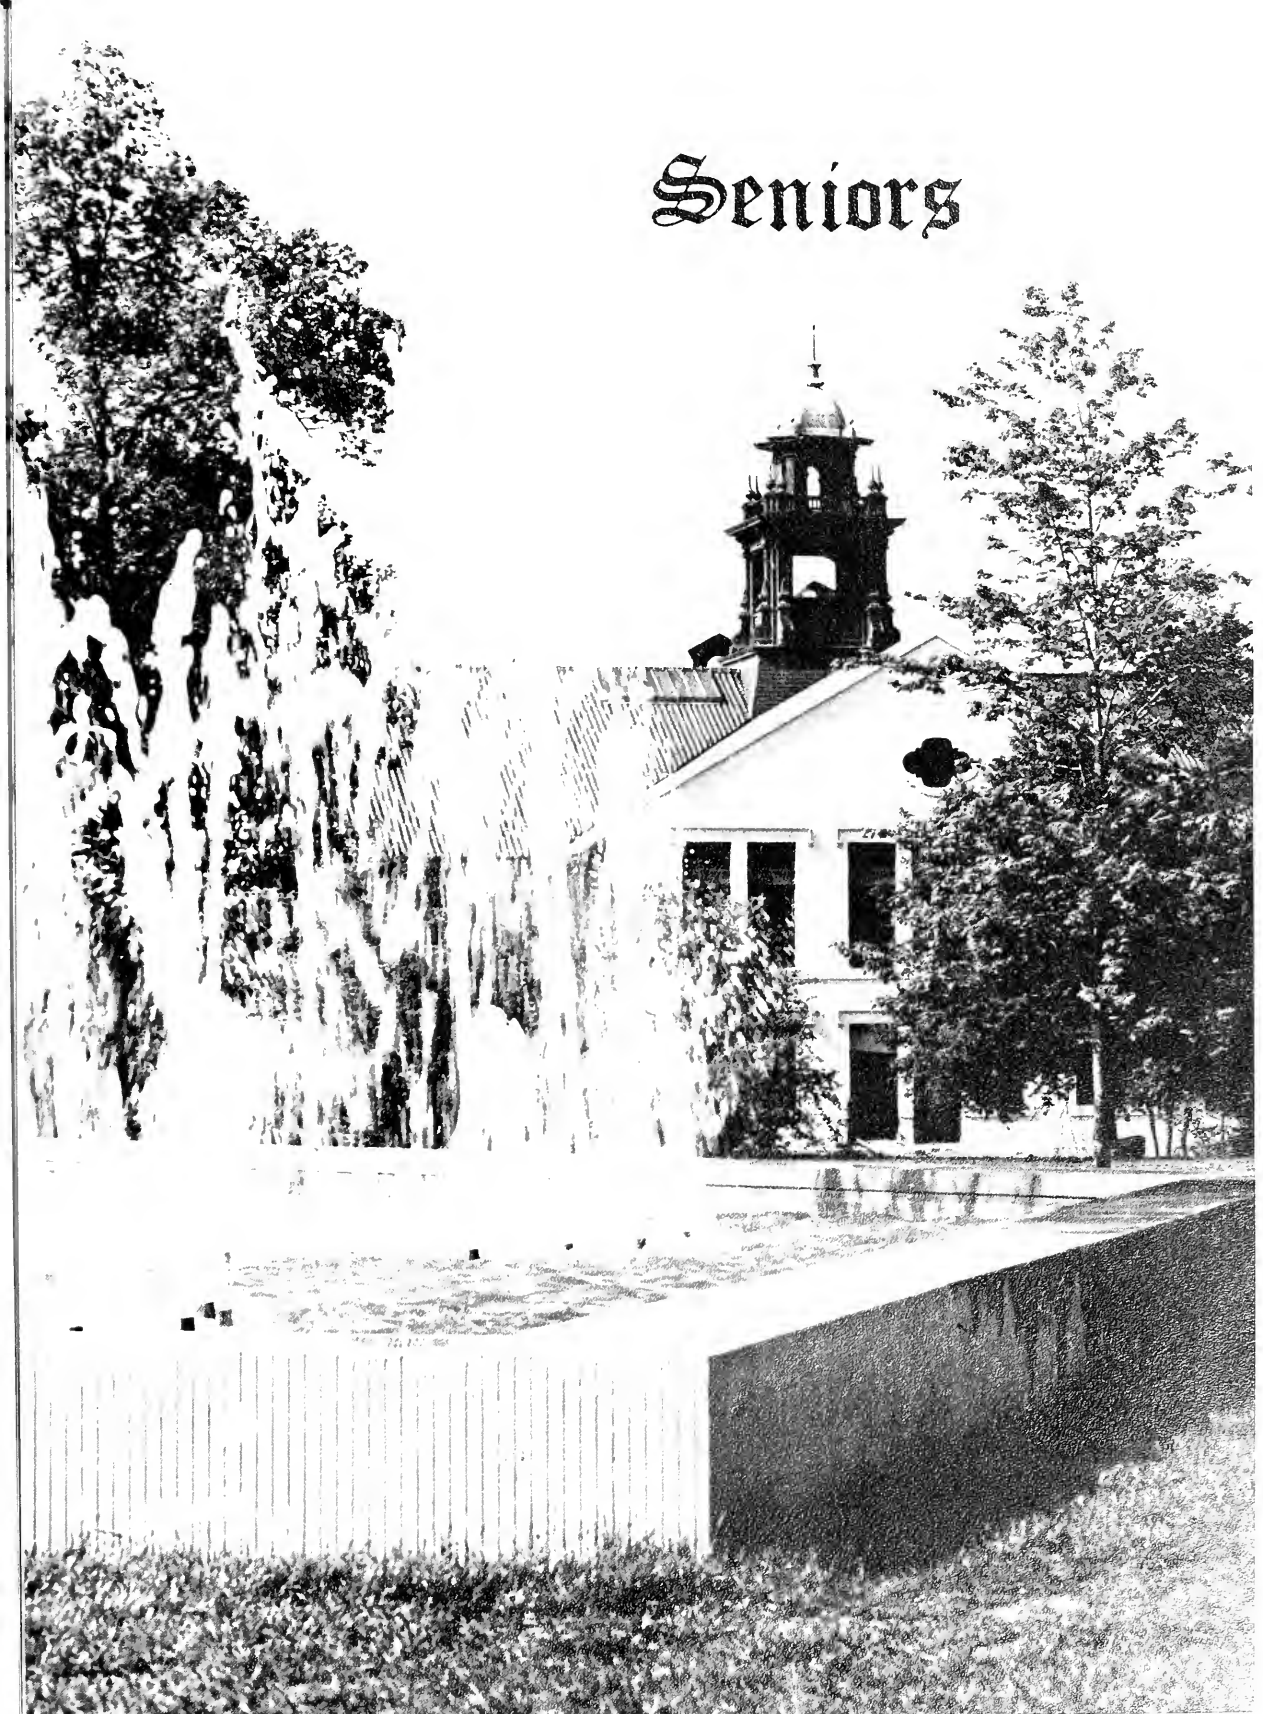

E. DE ALTON PARTRIDGE

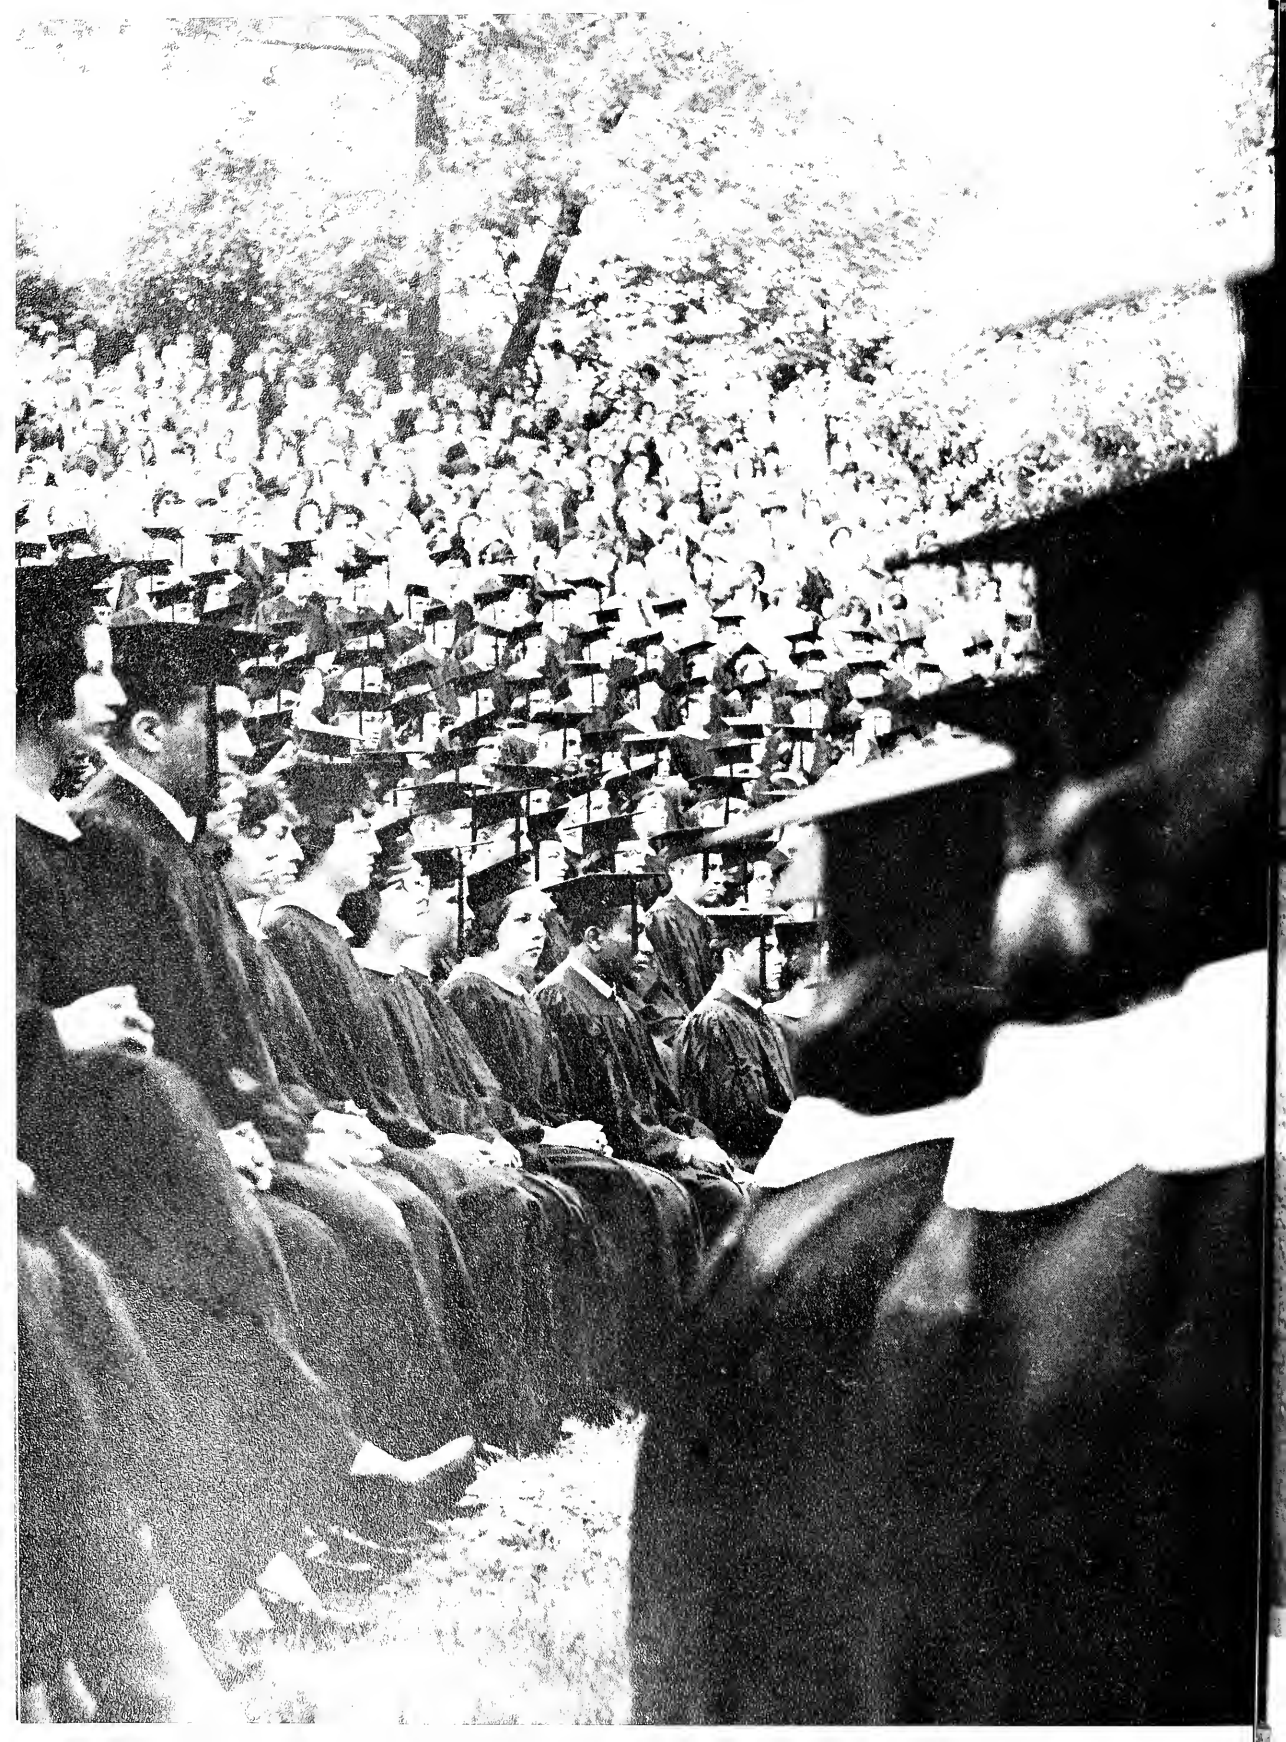

*As this year began with leave of absence
So it ends.*

*For the first time in the final year of four,
A towering shadow evokes a feeling of emptiness;
So it begins.*

However, there remains in us a sense of gratitude for his guidance.

Seniors

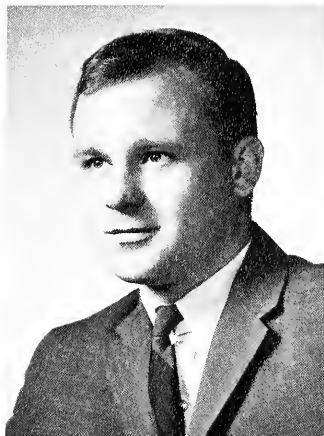

A black and white photograph of a modern building with a flat roof and a curved walkway, set against a backdrop of trees. The building is a long, low structure with a flat roof and a curved walkway. The foreground is a paved area with some small plants. The background shows a dense line of trees.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Editors of LA CAMPANA would like to express their gratitude to the many people who helped create this yearbook. We would like to acknowledge the particular efforts of the following people: Dr. Steven Earley and Mr. James Pettegrove for their immeasurable assistance, advice, and faith; Mr. Ed Kamper for his excellent photography and technical guidance which surpassed mere contractual obligations; Mr. Morris McGee for his valuable cooperation and seemingly infinite public relations files; Mr. Nick Ickes, Mr. Ralph Smith, and Mr. Buddy Schutz for their collective patience and guidance; Dr. Russell Krauss for representing and fulfilling our image of knowledge and scholarship; and, in conclusion, to Mr. Charles Mezerek, the "real" director of Life Hall.
